Are you looking for a role where it's OK to 'fall forward', where you are expected to work hard and have tons of fun, but with stacks of support around you? Where it's cool to have big dreams, using your strengths and skills to teach your passion in Humanities, Math, PE or Science? We are looking for individuals who will make an impact on our kids! Teachers who like them! Real people who are able to influence and gain commitment from our kids, whilst employing thoughtful, caring, deliberate and systematic strategies to move them to positive action and improvement in our constant challenge to achieve meaningful results with their learning and behaviour.

Everyone in our school values energy and passion! People who are active participants moving to the vibe of our school, possessing a sense of humour that they deliberately use to assist their effective practise, enabled by high integrity to do the job well! Our kids and staff want and need all our staff to be fun individuals, who laugh and have high levels of emotional intelligence motivated by an unrelenting and ever-resilient ambitious vision of student learning and development, whilst all the time being a genuine team player, with a real conviction and belief in our kids, getting positively involved in all that is going on, whether it's in the class teaching, outside the class with extra-curricular activities or as adults socially.

You will be self-motivated and encouraging with a personality that adds value to our place. Superior personal classroom practice will ooze out of you, and you will be a passionate, genuine believer in a well-rounded, balanced curriculum that is not just about reading, writing and math. You will have initiative and be excited about learning, highly organised and efficient, and not a 'clock watcher', and optimistic about what we can do for all our learners – kids and staff. You will be able to handle, and thrive in an interesting and incredibly busy, dynamic environment where flexibility and resilience are paramount, and where the whole staff team are a tight unit, honest with each other, incredibly hard working, and down to earth.

A big ask? For sure... but worth it for real personal and professional stretching and growth!

Prefer primary trained in an innovative specialist school structure as you will also have a form class/homeroom. You will teach in a room that has the latest technology with one-to-one devices, is refurbished and is a high-profile school with back to back 4-5 year ERO reviews; and winner of 2017 Education Excellence Awards, including the overall Prime Minister's Supreme Award so you will want to help and be capable of ensuring we continue on our quest for constant improvement and effectiveness!
